SPRING 2023

ATTAWAYTOGO AWARD

CONGRATULATIONS

to MELVIN "PAT" & JANE KNEIP

PATTERSON, recipients of our 2023 Camp Longhorn Inks Lake ATTAWAYTOGO Award! Our newest CLASP inductees will be celebrated with a tree ceremony this summer.

In 1955, PAT went to UT with no previous competitive swimming experience and became the first Longhorn to break 50 seconds in the 100-yard freestyle. He was 3 year letterman and UT Team Captain in 1956. He started the Spring Branch ISD swim programs and led Memorial High School to several state championships. He worked as the head coach for Texas A&M, Rice, Arkansas and UT, and coached Dad's Club to national prominence in the late '50s. During his seven seasons as a head coach at Texas, he produced 21 SWC Championships and 12 All-Americans. He was instrumental in the design and construction of the UT Swim Center and in the formation and development of the first University of Texas Women's Swimming team. PAT went on to be a principal at Eanes Junior High in 1978, then principal and superintendent at Westlake High School before finishing his career as superintendent at Sweeny, TX.

JANE and PAT holding their Texas Swimming & Diving Hall of Fame awards.

JANE was one of the first women inducted into the Texas Swimming and Diving Hall of Fame. Even though she passed away in 2013, her legacy remains. During her years at UT, women were not allowed to compete, but she continued her career and trained with the men's team.

JANE graduated from UT with honors and began her career as a teacher and coach. She taught English and Physical Education, coached swimming, tennis and volleyball in San Antonio, Houston, Bryan, Westlake (Austin) and Sweeny.

In 1971 she returned to UT as team Mom as her husband, PAT, took over as head men's swim coach. JANE, known as "Mizz Pat", attended every function and was always there for the team. She helped her husband start the Women's swim team in 1973 while raising their 8 children.

JANE was inducted into the Texas Swimming Hall of Fame for her contributions to the sport as a swimmer, coach and lifelong supporter of swimming in Texas.

JANE KNEIP PATTERSON

PAT PATTERSON and JANE KNEIP first met at UT in 1954 and later married on August 12, 1955. PAT loves to tell the story of how he and JANE dated during the summer while working as (PAT) Boys' Camp Director and (JANE) Girls' Camp Director at Camp Longhorn and TEX gave them a 2 day leave so they could go and get married. They honeymooned on Lake Buchanan.

PAT and JANE shared a love for teaching and working with young people, sports and outdoors. Together, PAT and JANE had 4 children: David, Wendy, Christie and Patrick. In 1975, they increased their family with the addition of Beery, Diehl, Niles and Trison Boggs. They call themselves the BOGGS & PATTERSON CLAN.

GET READY - GET SET - GO! ... TO CAMP!

Camp Collage was founded by the Willoughby family. Although Michael and Darla Willoughby never attended overnight camps, all three of their children attended Camp Longhorn. DREW was a camper from 2010-2018, SYDNEY and LAILA both began as Wren's and BOTH are still counselors!

From the very beginning, and every year after, Darla would spend days creating a collage to place inside each trunk. These collages would strengthen their emotional security while being away from family. At the same time, these collages sparked meaningful conversations with their newfound camper friends. Every year, the Willoughby kids looked forward to opening their camp trunks and sharing memories. In fact, other cabinmates would sometimes ask Darla to make one for them as well. In the fall of 2021, the mobile app Camp Collage was completed and offered to summer camps. During the summer of 2022, Camp Collage sent collages to campers in over 20 camps and in 9 states. For more info, visit <https://www.campcollage.com/>.

CAMP LONGHORN MEMORIES

written by Bill Greenhill
(previously published several years ago in the CLASP LUMNews)

Greenhills have been part of the Camp Longhorn story for three generations.

Joe and Martha Greenhill, my brother Cracker Greenhill and I, and all three of my children, Duke, Frank, and Joe. My wife, Ann Murchison Greenhill, was a character in the CLH story before she became the leading character in my life story. If not for CLH, I may never have met her! (More on that later.)

So, our family — all of us across three generations (and soon to be a fourth) — our family came to exist and evolved in the waters and the sunlight of Longhorn... and it all orbited “East Germany.”

1939 — Tex and my dad, Judge Joe Greenhill, became close friends in 1939 while Dad was attending the University of Texas Law School and Tex was the swimming coach at UT. Tex was ingenious in recruiting moms and dads to send their kids to camp, counselors (free room and board and plenty of fresh air), as well as campers. One of the ingenious recruiting tactics Tex developed was the Camp Carnival. Mom and Dad were recruited to host a Camp Carnival on the front lawn at our house in Austin. My brother, Cracker, actively recruited his friends to join him at camp and its off-season events. I remember this carnival in particular because I won a single shot 22 rifle as a spinning wheel prize — carnival games have not changed. My sons Duke and Frank both fired their first gunshot from that same bolt action .22.

CLH was first located on State property across Inks Lake opposite what would become the State Park. However, when powers that be determined that this property would become that Park, Tex leased the property where the camp is now from Albert Murchison (not related to my wife). It was a ten-year lease, but Albert died in 1948 before the expiration of the lease, leaving the property to his six sons and one daughter. Tex was able to purchase the property from the six sons, but not the daughter, Lola and her husband Lee McCarty. She thought her dad would want to keep the property in the family. Thus, began the “cold” territorial war between the McCarty’s and the Robertson’s, and the creation of East Germany.

Initially, campers could walk from their cabins directly to the swim bay. That stopped when Lee McCarty built a barbed wire fence to the water’s edge, which bifurcated the camp at its center. Counselors began calling the enclosed property “East Germany.” Tex was not a happy camper (he actually considered selling camp!). However, after discussing the dilemma with my dad, an Austin attorney who specialized in water law, Tex “engaged” dad to sue the McCarty’s in the Llano District Court to remove the fence off the water line to give passage to the swim bay. (I understand that Bill Johnson had already taken the matter into his own hands — he bulldozed the fence down.)

The court ruled that all property below an elevation of 890 feet belonged to the Lower Colorado River Authority (LCRA). The swimming bay was saved by the shoreline passage the ruling established, and eventually floating cabins were built and remain in their (almost) original berths now.

When I was a camper, the East Germany property line was a just a chalk line with signs that warned crossing the line was a “D-Trap.” Later on, another fence was built. My most distinct recollection about the fenced East Germany was being the counselor in Cabin 11 — the cabin that stood virtually on the East-West German line beside what is now the Fenway baseball field. The McCarty’s put horses in East Germany resulting in lots of noise during the night.

My other recollection is the Karl’s Camp cabin across the swim bay on the McCarty’s property. Lee McCarty was so angry about the court ruling that he leased his part of the property to Karl Pearl to be used as a fishing camp. This venture failed. However, thanks to the CLH Historical Commission, after the McCarty’s property was bought by CLH and when C3 was built, the Karl’s Camp cabin was not torn down and remains where it stood as a reminder of Tex’s perseverance to win the “cold war.”

Tex and Pat remained good friends with the Greenhills though all the years. All three of my sons were campers and two were counselors at CLH Inks Lake. My oldest son, Duke, served as the Activities Director of Inks Boys Camp under Ray Frady for over half a decade.

Cleverly, Tex began a program of awarding long time connections with CLH by dedicating a tree to alumni and friends of CLH. Mom and Dad received such an award in 2001.

Love at First Sight?

Many of us met our spouses at CLH. Ann and I are a part of this distinguished group. However, our beginning was not so hopeful. In 1966, Both Ann and I were third term counselors, and we did not know each other. She was a Wren, and I was a Cabin 6 Armadillo on Inks Lake. I was summoned to the counselor's telephone booth at the Merit Store to return a call to my mother. When I arrived at the telephone booth, Ann was on the phone talking to her boyfriend. The conversation went on and on. I got impatient. What I said to her to get her to get off the phone and what she said back is subject to interpretation. In any event, that was not a good beginning for our relationship. However, the gossip in the Chow Hall was that I should ask her to spend some time with me on a night off. I now regret that I did not take her to the Blue Bonnet Tavern or other exciting location in or between Burnet and Llano. We opted to watch a movie (Love Is a Many-Splendored Thing) in the "counselors' room" in MF and Bill Johnson's house. Although it was not love at first sight, this was the beginning of a beautiful relationship.

Pit Stop

Pit Stop has a history of its own. Dr. Joe Shepard was the camp doctor from 1939 until his death in 1986. He would come for "sick call" every morning. Pat would announce "sick call" at some point before "inspection time." I remember as a young camper thinking of ways to make an excuse to go to sick call to avoid inspection. I think this was called being a "gold brick." (By the way, in my first year in Cabin 3, I did my best to convince Jumping Joe that I was fully qualified to go to the House upon Pat's invitation to take Mass, but to no avail). Fayero (Fayero Stewart) was one of doctors' assistants for many years. She was something else--calm, cool and collected, nothing was an "emergency."

First Verse. For some reason, when I was a counselor, one of my activities was scuba diving with a Sea Hawk cabin. I knew nothing about scuba diving. But, as BJ would say as he put his four fingers around your neck, "You can handle it." At one time, there was an underwater bus (old camp bus) near the Dolphin cabin and canoe bay (remember-- "can u canu?"). To pass the scuba diving "bar," a camper was challenged to go through the front door of the underwater bus, and exit at the back of the bus. As the counselor, I went through first. One of the windows was broken, and I nearly sliced off my right-hand middle finger on the broken glass. After I came up out of the water making sure not to make a "scene" before the campers. I made my way to the Pit Stop. When I got to Pit Stop, I was in a lot of pain. Fayero calmly gazed and said, "what do we have here." She told me to take my swim trunks off. Are you kidding me? I am holding my finger together, and she wants me to take my pants off? After a brief conversation, I took my trunks off. It was the only time I didn't appreciate being in airconditioned space at camp. After cleaning me up, she gave me my trunks back, gave me a CLH tee shirt, and told me that I should drive to the hospital in Burnet. I advised that a better idea would be for someone drive me to Burnet. Fortunately, someone in the office volunteered to take me to Burnet.

Second Verse. When I arrived at the hospital, it was decided that a "specialist" would be required to sew my finger together again. A doctor from Austin was called to come to my rescue. As I recall, the doctor asked for some Novocain and was told there was none. He used something else (not nearly as good). When I got back to camp, I joined my cabin at campfire (I was on "duty"). BJ came by and asked me how things were going. Although the aspirin the doc gave me was not at all effective, I told him all is well. BJ put his hand on my neck and told me, as he had many times: "You can handle it." That is the way I took it. Lesson well learned. If there is anything I learned at camp, it is self-confidence, "you can handle it."

Twelve Hour Leave

Third term 1966 was a banner year for me. Not only did I meet Ann, but I had an adventure on my 12-hour leave. I had finished my freshman year at UT and was a member of a fraternity. A fellow counselor was a member of the same fraternity. The fraternity scheduled a party in Dallas to recruit guys to be members of our fraternity. My fellow counselor suggested that we should drive to Dallas on our 12-hour leave. I said, "OK." Really a dumb move. Just think about this, it is 3+3 ½ hour drive to Dallas, and a 12-hour leave meant a 12-hour leave. I invited a counselor in the girl's camp to go with us (not Ann). (No names here-to protect the innocent). Off we went in my car. Although I was worried about getting back to camp on time, my frat brother was having too much fun and could have cared less. I finally convinced him that we needed to drive back to camp. When we arrived back at about 2:00 in the morning, I was convinced that BJ would be there and would jump out of a tree to welcome us. No BJ. Whew! However, BJ made a visit to my cabin a little before “Good morning Camp Longhorn, rise and shine, be up an about, today is...” I will never forget it. There was BJ staring at me through the screen next to my bunk asking me how I felt. (I felt fine physically, but I but I knew the handwriting was on the wall). He asked me to join him outside. He put his hand around my neck. I do not remember the conversation, but he knew that I knew I had blown it. He had a special assignment for me for the next serval day. He assigned me to the horse corral for the rest of the week with special duties therein.

Cowboy Bill

Horseback riding was not my favorite activity because I was a city slicker from Austin. When I was a Wrangler, we had the opportunity to go bare back riding. I can handle this. Unbeknown to me, I was given an especially lunatic horse to ride. All was well until we arrived at the edge of the lake somewhere in the girl’s camp. My horse decided to take a bath. I fell off the horse, and it wandered away. Somehow, I found the horse again. On the way back, when we got to the end of the “air field” opposite the horse corral, my horse decided it was time to gallop to the horse corral for chow. I hung on the horse’s neck for dear life. All ended well. I “handled it.”

Politics and BJ

When Bill Johnson was the head of the boy’s camp on Inks Lake, BJ was rather (extremely?) conservative, politically. My brother, Cracker and I, grew up under a conservative (as opposed to “liberal”) Democratic umbrella since my dad ran on the Democratic ticket when he was up for election as a justice on the Texas Supreme Court. In BJ’s mind Democrats were Democrats. Although Cracker was mostly interested in things other than politics, he and BJ would get after it, Cracker taking the liberal position. Cracker told me that I might continue this tradition. And I did. Many times, when BJ and I were together when I was “off” or at the gathering of counselors in his house before the wake up call music (the wake up march is a story in itself), BJ would mention some news about something LBJ was advocating. That was my signal to get into action as a “liberal.” As I recall, we never had time to reach any “conclusions,” but for both of us it was a way to think things through.

The reason why I was rarely assigned to a water activity.

1. When I was assigned to the sailing dock, I was told to take the motor boat out and cruise around and watch the campers. No one knew that I did not have a clue about running a motor boat. “I can handle it.” When I tried to dock the boat, I missed the dock and ran ashore.
2. Same tune, second verse—When I was a wrangler counselor with Red Dog (Ralph Jones), a Riff Raft activity was scheduled that included taking the girl and boy Wangers on an evening cruse down the lake to have chow on the other side of the lake. Here we go again, Bill Greenhill running an outboard motor engine again. “I can handle it.” All was well, until we returned in the dark. Of course, I missed the dock, and we landed on the shore.

Don Frog

Finally, one of my most vivid memories was when I was a Sea Hawk. We had various challenges to pass the Sea Hawk “Bar.” One of them was the “50-foot dive” to the bottom of Inks Lake. The counselor who accompanied me to the bottom of the lake was non-other than Don Frog, Don Jackson. What I remember is how cold and dark it was and staring at Don Frog’s eyes through the lenses of his goggles as we descended into the deep.

Camp though the years was a fabulous experience in terms of having fun, making friends for a lifetime, and taking on responsibilities, but also for me in terms of building self-esteem and self-confidence. As my counselors would say to me as a camper and as Bill Johnson would say to me as a counselor, “You can handle it.”
